—Commercial.—The C. P. R. is revising its wheat and flour rates in the west. The general freight traffic manager is now in the west, partly for this purpose. It is reported that at least 2c will be taken off the wheat rate. No announcement has yet been made by the company as to the amount of the proposed reduction.

—The council of the College of Physicians and surgeons of the Northwest Territories, who were appointed to investigate certain charges laid against Dr. A. S. Martin, Regina, for alleged carelessness during an outbreak of smallpox in Regina, have brought in a report censuring the doctor. His professional papers were not withdrawn, however.

—Work is being rapidly pushed forward on Revillon Eres warehouse to the rear of their store on Jasper avenue west. The walls are almost finished and the timbers are being framed on the vacant lot opposite the store, and the framework will be erected in a few days. Across the road is a large force of men are working. The first floor will be used as a Masonic hall, while the Alberta college will occupy the ground floor.

—Reporter.—The Fort Saskatchewan club are unable to be generous with other peoples' property and out of the conditions imposed by the donor, Mr. Raymer, as suggested by the Alberta, out if Calgary are so eager to get at the Fort team as to state that they will go after them at once, let them do so, let them challenge us to put up a game for say $200 here, and come with 50 importations and let the best team win. But we guess it is all froth and spume.

MANUFACTURERS AND THE RAILROAD

On Tuesday, September 11th, during the debate in committee of the whole on the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, the argument was held by members of the opposition that all material imported for construction purposes on the government section of the railway should pay duty whether imported direct by the government or not; and Mr. Taylor, chief whip of the Conservative party, went so far as to ask that all material required for it should be purchased in Canada, even though at a higher price than the import price with duty added.

In reply to this position Mr. Oliver spoke as follows:

Mr. OLIVER. I am wondering if these are the same gentlemen who held up the House all yesterday in fear that this road was going to be over-capitalized, and that freight rates, therefore, could not be reduced. Are these the same gentlemen, I say, who had that terrible fear all day yesterday, and who today are holding up the House, insisting that there shall be an over-capitalization in consequence of which the freight rates cannot be reduced? If the expenditure that the building of this road will entail, and the legitimate opportunities that will thereby accrue to our manufacturers are not sufficient for them, I am one to say that that is evidence of the necessity of some provision in this bill that they shall not be able to take this country by the throat and make the treasury disgorge at their expense the will and pleasure. Whatever will increase the cost of construction of the eastern section will certainly increase the carrying charge. While I, as a citizen of Canada, am anxious to see our manufacturing industries develop and advance, I am also anxious to see those who require to transport their products over this road, get an equal chance to live. This road, I understand, is being built for the benefit of the manufacturers as well as for the benefit of the farmers; to enable the manufacturers of eastern Canada to reach their natural market in western Canada, and that can only be done by providing a road at the cheapest cost of construction, which will allow the lowest rates of carriage. I say, it would be a cut-throat policy for the manufacturers themselves to do anything to increase the cost of construction of this eastern section, and thereby tend to debar themselves from entrance into and access to their natural and legitimate market in western Canada. If this road has a reason for construction at all, it is to enable the manufacturers and commerce of eastern Canada to get the benefit of the trade of western Canada, and the only way that can be done is by keeping down the cost of construction so that the government, having control of rates, can keep them down accordingly. I say that while we wish to assist the manufacturers, while we would be pleased to see the manufacturers get all they can out of an expenditure of one hundred million dollars, or as some people say, or two hundred million or even of five hundred million dollars, we cannot afford to allow these very worthy gentlemen the power to take the country by the throat and unduly and illicitly increase the cost of this road as it would be increased if the supplies necessary for its construction could only be bought in Canada. It is no secret that the manufacturers of Canada constitute a huge combine, not in one or two lines, but in all lines. It would be a piece of idiocy to put the carrying through of any such tremendous enterprise at the mercy of such an organization; which is apparently the object the members on the other side have in view.

NEWS FROM THE NORTH

Mr. E. Nagle, of Hishop and Nagle, fur traders at Fort Resolution in the far north, is in the city and will spend the next six months in Edmonton. Mr. Nagle has spent sixteen years in the far north. This north country has had a very successful season this year. The fur catch has been large and this is synonymous for good times with the Indians. They have all done well and are consequently contented and happy. There have been no epidemics of sickness in the north this year, and the health of the Indians has been exceedingly good. Last year the whole country was visited with a terrible epidemic of measles. Indians were carried off by the score. Numerous halfbreeds also died from this disease. It seemed to affect the Indians and halfbreeds much like smallpox or cholera. The great trouble with the Indians was that they would not take proper care of themselves, but would lie out on the ground in an effort to cool themselves from the fever raging within them. The Indians and halfbreeds in the employ of the different fur traders in the north, contracted the disease, but being well looked after, soon recovered. Mr. Nagle is of the opinion that the government should have a doctor resident in the far north to look after cases of this kind.

A few words regarding the fisheries in the far north may be of interest to many of our readers who are unacquainted with the north country. The rivers and lakes of all that vast tract of country teem with fish of the highest commercial value. Great Slave Lake and its tributary rivers, is one of the best fishing grounds on the continent. Fine, large trout of the red fleshed variety are in abundance. The regular Rocky Mountain trout swarm in the rivers in inexhaustible numbers. In the Mackenzie River, herring and other similar kinds of fish swarm in abundance. Fish are the great source of food for the Indians and halfbreeds, and immense quantities are put up to last over the winter. Through time when this great north country will be tapped by railroads, the fishing industry will be a very important one.

The Roman Catholic mission has established a large sawmill about a mile and a half from Fort Resolution. There is a planing mill in connection, the lumber being used for local purposes and for the different Roman Catholic missions in the north.

A large convent is being established at Fort Resolution and five Roman Catholic sisters are on hand to take charge of the work. It will provide accommodation for one hundred children. A temporary building has been secured for the present and twelve children are now attending the convent.

The Roman Catholic mission has placed a small steamer on the Mackenzie river at Fort Providence to assist in the fisheries for the missions. Their fishing ground is at Big Island.

EDMONTON, THE METROPOLIS OF THE WEST.

Mr. John Derry, one of the touring British editors, writes to his paper, the Sheffield Daily Independent, as follows:

"The more westerly line to the north, through the Northwest Territories, from Calgary to Edmonton, repeats in an accentuated form the experiences one has on the Prince Albert line further east, that is to say, new towns are growing up and a fertile country is filling with farmers, whose holdings lead themselves to 'mixed' operations—grain growing and cattle and horse raising. It is along this line that many of the Americans have settled, and they are coming in daily. You see their strings of covered wagons, and herds of driven stock, all along the trails. My admiration of the Yankee is deepened threefold by what I have seen here. He is the best man entering and making the new Northwest—not at all a bragging, but a thoroughly practical, intelligent, educated worker, and best of good fellows. Lean, brown, strong, hardy, he is the ideal pioneer. We went on to Edmonton, and most of the party steamed down the river to Fort Saskatchewan and returned driving about 25 miles, by the Athabasca trail—an awful road. Edmonton, placed high on the northern base of the Saskatchewan, with a beautiful outlook, is the Quebec of the Northwest and will inevitably become a great city. Already it is talking of a connection line running east and west between Edmonton and Prince Albert, and the new transcontinental railway to the north, which is the burning question of the moment in Canada, will open up now and fertile lands. The result will be that there must arise a Winnipeg in the far Northwest, and Edmonton will be the place. Indeed there is room in these rich and accessible lands of the Canadian wheat belt for twenty million people and half a dozen large cities; but Edmonton will take the lead, I prophesy, even from Calgary, which has a start by being on the main line."

SCOLD FOR N. W. MOUNTED POLICE

The following letter has been received by the Bulletin with a request for publication:—

Editor Bulletin.—It is with regret that I find it necessary to arise this matter of the Northwest Mounted Police land scrip for services rendered through the Northwest rebellion of 1885 before the public. I do so with your kind indulgence.

The writer of this and others who are in the country now, feel that there has been something left undone by the government in not acknowledging the work done by the N. W. M. P. in the same way and manner as the services of the volunteers, at that time. The Northwest Mounted Police are enrolled and fully expected to have to perform all that is appointed for them to do. We did this and more, while scouting, carrying despatches, and protecting the front and rear, upon the line up march; and the prestige which the police are credited with was not diminished by the work done in aiding very materially in suppressing the rebellion of 1885.

The volunteers and members of A. and B. batteries of artillery, together with C. school of infantry, are also enrolled and expect to perform whatever there is appointed for them to do in a like manner. We are all defenders of our country and the upholders of law and order. Why is it the N. W. M. P. did not reap the same reward as was meted out to their comrades in arms, by the issuing of land scrip, and their co-equals so unreserved. The lapse of time does not efface our memories of those days when the police, ably assisted by the Home Guards, stemmed the rising tide of rebellion. We still cherish the wish that our services should be as fully remembered by the government, and the issue of land scrip be by the government for the work done by us, and done with a will; and the spirit was highly commended by the general officer in command, and being performed under a general order issued in camp at Port Pitt.

It may be thought that all of the police should not be the recipients of land scrip. This can be remedied by issuing it to those who were actually under fire and through the police took engagements in which the police took part. The part taken by the N. W. M. P. has long gone unrewarded, but I trust we are not forgotten. What amount of generosity would it entail scrip to what few there are of us left today, and who were actually under fire. The matter has not been given consideration. Surely the motive is worthy of it.

A number of the boys have gone to seek their reward from a higher tribunal. I sincerely hope and trust that they have all been fully granted. We remain here. Are ours to be granted by a beneficent government, or will we go unrequited any longer? It would be giving to our own kin and kin, to be left by grow to their children who are now growing and music to repose faith in, in times of stress, and who are now helping to form a consolidated government from amongst the conglomeration of people who are filling up the country. Then why should not our aspirations be cherished and our services rewarded? It would make a contentment and a satisfaction which would be felt at the proper time. Our menfolk in the Dominion House would be doing a grateful act and conferring a benefit upon the country indirectly, by representing to the government of the day the neglect and delay that has occurred in the past in not recognizing the services rendered by the Northwest Mounted Police during the Northwest rebellion of 1885, and not granting the same scrip to those members of the force who were worthy of it. We are not asking for a reward upon the receipt of which we hold the law and order of this land. Trusting that this humble appeal will not be made in vain, and equally trusting, Mr. Editor, that space will permit of a prominent publication in your paper.

Coats 3 Dozen

Blouses 1 1/2 Dozen

Skirts 2 1/2 Dozen

Our large stock of these has been reduced to seven dozen pieces all told, and to clear out we are making another sweeping reduction of one-quarter of present price.

Figure

With us and see what it all means to our customers.

Suppose

Wholesale price of garment to be $10.00. We having bought at discount, get the same at thirty per cent less, or $7.00.

Add

Thirty per cent in both cases for profit and the regular merchant would then sell same garment at $13.00. Our price would only be $9.10. Which must be a consideration to every level minded person.

Again

Take 25 per cent off our present price, $9.10 leaves this cost at the small price of $6.80.

Only

a trifle more than half the regular price.

If you have not seen these goods, ask your neighbor who has, or call at once as this stock cannot stand long at these prices.

C. E. McManus has opened up a boot and shoe store in the building formerly occupied by Leavenworth Bros.

The C. P. R. have strengthened their side track at Lacombe 600 feet and are putting in an additional side track 1800 feet in length.

The price of flour at Edmonton remains very firm and is selling freely. It is probable that there will be an increase in price in the near future.

Wesley McKernan, of Strathcona, is in town today and has been extending invitations to the opening of the new Dominion hotel, which will take place on Friday evening.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Temperance Club held in McDonald and Griesbach's office tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

Excellent progress is being made with the Helmsick block on Jasper avenue west. A large, handsome clock will be placed in the front of the building when completed.

Excellent progress is being made with A. McDonald and Company's wholesale grocery warehouse to the rear of the Union Bank. The brickwork is practically all finished and the building will be ready for use in a short time.

Weeks and Company report several large sales of Edmonton town lots the past few weeks. The firm commenced business on the 11th of August. They have recently sold a lot opposite the Bank of Montreal lot at the rate of $250 a foot, another lot west of the Windsor hotel at $150 a foot, two lots and a building on Jasper avenue west for $5,000, seven lots on First street, four on Second street and about seventeen residential lots. They have sold since coming to Edmonton upwards of $400,000 worth of property. The majority of these sales have been to people who will take up their residence here.

In the Bullockville correspondence to the Locomotive Advertiser the following item appears: "About a week ago this sleepy neighborhood was startled by something that reminded one of the James boys. It happened this way: It seems that Harry Leuch, known as handsome Harry, had worked for about 18 months for a man named Lloyd, and received no pay. When he quit he asked two or three times for a settlement but was put off until he armed himself with a revolver and proceeded to the house of Lloyd and asked in a civil manner for his money but was refused again. Then he presented his revolver and told Lloyd to 'pony up' or take the consequences. It is needless to add that Mr. Lloyd 'ponied up' in the usual style while handsome Harry rode off triumphantly."

Advocate, Red Deer.—"In their issue of the 23rd inst., the Edmonton Bulletin complains of the false reports respecting the frosts and crops in Alberta north of Olds that are being spread about by an apparently organized gang who are interested in the Calgary district. There seems to be a great deal of rivalry between the two towns, which at times gives rise to a certain amount of feeling—but why should false reports be made? They won't hurt Edmonton or help Calgary. Settlers who are worth having generally like to see things for themselves, and what they do see in Alberta is that from inland north the country is more attractive and better suited to farming than Southern Alberta." The Advocate knows whereof it speaks for perhaps no place in Alberta has suffered more from false reports of frosts than has the Red Deer district up to the last year or two.

CLASS FIRING

Class firing being in progress at the Edmonton rifle ranges there is little regular practice to be had at present. Mr. N. J. Dinnen, who secured a place on the Bisley team by his steady shooting at the Dominion Rifle Association matches at Ottawa lately, being in town again Saturday afternoon on the range and had a little practice with some of the rifles used by the members of the local association.

Following are some of the practice scores:—

N. J. Dinnen 240 300 711

F. A. Osborne 25 31-43

Mr. Dinnen was, of course, handicapped by using rifles to which he was not accustomed; the sighting of which differed from that of his own. The report of class firing is being withheld pending completion.

Every member is requested to attend at the ranges during the next two or three Saturday afternoons in order to complete the class firing required by the regulations, to enable the association to secure the annual grant for maintenance of ranges.

The matches will take place shortly, and it is likely that only those who have completed class firing will be eligible to compete in the Association and Nursery matches.

A local order regarding class firing will appear this week.

Some of the members went to Fort Saskatchewan last week and took part in the matches there.

It may not be generally known that we are in the Belting business but we are very much in it. We don't touch the cheap kind, but we sell the best grade of Leather Belting produced (Extra Brand). Single and double, all sizes. Once used, always used.

We have just unpacked our winter stock of Horse Blankets and Robes, and our showing easily surpasses anything ever offered in the City before. Thirty different kinds of Blankets from the plain Jutes to the elaborate Stay-ons, and if we cannot suit you we have the satisfaction of knowing that nobody else can. We invite you to examine our stock.

Just a word about Trunks and Valises. We pay particular attention to these goods, and can say as a matter of fact without boasting that our stock is not only the largest but the best assorted in the city. Don't take our word, but come and look around. We have a carload arriving in a few days which will make our stock equal to anything west of Toronto, and that is saying a good deal. G.T.P. SURVEY Plainsdealer. During the last week a party of Grand Trunk Pacific surveyors have been locating the line in this district. They started south from Strathcona paralleling the C. & N. W. far as Osoyoos, from which point they turned in a southeasterly direction, passing through the country of the element heading for the old McKenzie survey, which they would strike directly east of Leduc. We understand it is the full purpose of the company to effect a crossing of the Saskatchewan at Strathcona. A query arises as to whether the G. T. P. and the C. P. R. will unite in the construction of the high level bridge proposed by the latter. The cost of one such bridge will be nearly half a million dollars, and one would suppose that the companies would prefer to go together on the work, sharing the cost and the use of the structure. Whether one bridge or two are built here, the position of Strathcona will be greatly strengthened by the coming of the G. T. P.
